Advanced Identification of Fraudulent Identity Documents

Specializing in Fake Driver License Recognition

Monday, October 23, 2017 -- 9AM to 4PM

Instructor: Joseph Vasil, Vasil I.D. Training LLC

This comprehensive, one-day "hands-on" advanced course is designed to assist law enforcement officers with the growing trend in the use of fraudulent identity documents, and will take them to the next level of document fraud detection. False identity documents pose a major threat to national security and public safety. These authentic-looking "modern day" credentials that are available online have compromised nearly every security feature on their ID's making them virtually "undetected" and more sophisticated than "ID Chief" counterfeits of a few years ago. This course will instruct law enforcement officers the proper ID protocol to detect/identify these fraudulent ID's. Officers will be able to handle genuine and counterfeit ID's side by side for comparison. Instruction will include methods to detect counterfeit driver licenses from all 50 states along with social security cards, green cards, Passports (US & Foreign) as well as International Driving Permits, Canadian and Mexican documents. Special instruction includes how to detect altered documents (titles). Instruction will include appropriate 2C statutes. The course materials include a free magnifier and reference guide, and "cheat sheets" to recognize counterfeit licenses from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York and one additional cheat sheet of the state your choice.

The instructor is retired as Coordinator from NJ MVC Fraudulent Document Training Unit after 35 years of service as a nationally recognized expert in document fraud. He was appointed to head the NJ Attorney General/MVC Document Fraud Taskforce in 2002. Certified N.J. police instructor. Certified expert witness in Federal and State courts. He has trained NYPD, Newark JTTF, NJSP, NY/NJ Port Authority Police, along with many Federal and Local police agencies in NJ/NY/PA. Mr. Vasil has successfully trained more than 16,000 law enforcement officers over the last 25 years.

Autism Spectrum Disorder:

Police Officer Strategies for Interaction, Response & Safety

Thursday, November 6, 2017 -- 9AM to 3PM

Instructors: Adrienne Robertiello, Autism Educator, Children's Specialized Hospital Officer Joseph Carratella, Elizabeth Police Department

The CDC estimates the current prevalence of autism spectrum disorder (ASD) in the United States at 1 in 68, with New Jersey reported as having the nation's highest rate at 1 in 45. It is critical that officers have ample knowledge of ASD as they are likely to encounter those with the disorder in the course of public safety efforts, crime prevention and response, and general community interactions. This course supplements the New Jersey Developmental Disabilities Awareness Training for NJ First Responders which is mandated by Public Law 2008, Chapter 80. Participants will obtain comprehensive information about individuals with ASD including communication, social skills, sensory issues, unpredictable responses, meltdowns, self-injurious behaviors, aggression, reduced understanding of danger, and more. The presenters will provide strategies for interacting and responding to calls related to those who may have this disorder, methods to address safety challenges, and tools to develop community relationships to aid in the prevention of negative outcomes and injuries. Topics will include recognizing characteristics of ASD; personal and community safety; modified response techniques; neglect, abuse, bullying, and harassment; crisis intervention; transportation, travel, and vehicular safety; medical emergencies; search and rescue, and emergency management.

Basic Latent Fingerprint Examinations

Monday through Friday, November 27 to December 1 2017

-- 9AM to 4:30PM

Days 1-3 at the John H. Stamler Police Academy;

Days 4-5 at the Union County Sheriff's Office Training Facility, 5 Elizabethtown Plaza, Elizabeth, 7th Floor

Instructors: Union County Sheriff's Office: Sergeant David Krill and Detective Adrian Gardner

The Basic Latent Fingerprint Examination course will introduce criminal justice personnel to the science of latent fingerprint examinations. Students will be exposed to terminology, concepts and accepted methodologies necessary to become a latent fingerprint examiner. A majority of the course will be spent examining latent fingerprints and comparing them to known exemplars. Students will begin the course using magnifying loops and then will transition to using comparison software. Although this is a basic class, it is recommended that the student has completed an introduction to the science of fingerprints class or has some prior training or experience in latent fingerprint examinations. Topics of discussion include: History and Science of Fingerprint Examinations; ACE-V methodology; Sufficiency decisions; Orientation clues; Documentation and note taking; Palm print recognition; and Comparison Software.

Location: The first three days of the course will be held at the John H. Stamler Police Academy; the last two days will be held at the Union County Sheriff's Office Training Facility (5 Elizabethtown Plaza, Elizabeth/7th Floor.)

Child Abduction and Missing Person Investigations

presented by the New Jersey State Police

Thursday, October 26, 2017 -- (HALF DAY) 9AM to 1PM

Instructor: DSGT Stephen Urbanski, New Jersey State Police Missing Persons Unit

Reports of missing and/or abducted children can be among the most difficult, challenging and emotionally charged cases experienced by an officer or an agency. This course is designed to assist patrol officers, detectives and supervisors with their response to an investigation of missing or abducted persons. The main focus of the course is that of a missing and/or abducted child. This course will cover patrol officer, detective and supervisor responsibilities during the initial response, AMBER Alert, the role of the Child Abduction Response Team (CART), interviewing, neighborhood canvass, roadblock canvass, search, recovery, sources of information and includes three abduction case studies. This course will also provide law enforcement with information to assist with the investigation and search for missing persons with special needs including Autism, Alzheimer's and Dementia.

FALL 2017 -- 13

Community Policing Train The Trainer: Police & Teens Together (PATT) Program Tuesday, September 19, 2017 -- 9AM to 4PM

*Instructors: Lt. Theresa Gazaway and Sgt. Dennis Carovillano, New Providence Police Department
Karen E. Positan, Assistant Public Information Officer, Union County Prosecutor's Office
& Union County Human Relations Commissioner*

Certain police procedures carried out as part of normal investigations, police stops and questionings can easily be misunderstood by citizen residents, and can therefore result in confrontation and dispute. These misunderstandings in turn can escalate into various levels of criminal offenses which otherwise were not the purpose of the original stop and investigation. In 1999, amidst a national controversy surrounding events much like today's headlines about Ferguson, North Carolina, and Miami, Union County Human Relations Commissioners agreed that steps needed to be taken to forestall these scenarios from occurring whenever possible.

In Spring 2000, the Union County Human Relations Commission and law enforcement community piloted the four-session Police & Teens Together (PATT) Program, and since then have delivered it at every Union County high school with excellent results and documented success. The simple format provides an open forum for teens and police to share concerns and upsets, ask questions, exchange viewpoints, and "trade places" in a dynamic role play scenario that delivers impactful results in a fun-filled educational setting, with the benefits of the students sharing their "lessons learned" with classmates, friends and family.

Officers who deal with juveniles, community policing and school resource officers are invited to learn how to implement this user-friendly program in your high schools, to increase the level of respect and cooperation and add "voices of reason" that can be heard in your schools and community.

Attire: Uniform/Professional

Cost: Out-of-county Personnel: $30. Union County Personnel: No Charge.

Concealed Compartments

presented by Pangaro Training and Management
Wednesday, September 13, 2017 -- 9AM to 4:30PM

Instructor: New York State Police Detective Jason Robles

This course reveals the concealment method of installing hidden compartments in vehicles and structures. Contents include: What to look for when stopping a vehicle, the tell-tale signs that a vehicle had been altered to create a hidden compartment; How to listen for the things the people say to indicate they are operating a vehicle with a hidden compartment; Where to look on the vehicle and in residences to find these hidden compartments.

This course is a must for every officer that works the road and every detective that serves search warrants. The course also highlights the physical indicators and verbal clues used by individuals concealing illicit contraband. Through the use of lecture, video and hands on inspection of actual concealed compartments in vehicles, furniture and household items, the student is able to see the mechanics of these compartments. Designed to familiarize the student with many types of concealment, the course covers both commercially available items as well as custom manufactured compartments.

Criminal Investigative Analysis Training (Psychological Profiling)

presented by The Alpha Group

Monday through Friday, September 18-22, 2017 --
(FIVE DAYS) 8AM to 5PM
except on Friday -- 8AM to 12 Noon

Instructor: Kenneth Morris, The Alpha Group

The need for Criminal Investigative Analysis (formerly referred to as Psychological Profiling) training has become increasingly recognized over the past few years as law enforcement agencies across the country encounter an ever increasing number of rapes and homicides committed by unknown offenders. As we move through this decade and beyond, it seems apparent that police administrators will require highly trained, competent people to collect, collate, and analyze data to help them effectively deal with these problems. But before any problem can be resolved, it first must be identified. Armed with the information regarding the types of crimes occurring in their jurisdictions, investigators, if properly trained, are uniquely positioned to utilize the information presented in this course to not only identify when serial crimes are occurring, but to identify the personality and behavioral characteristics of the type of person most likely to have committed the crimes. However, while criminal profiling is particularly useful in cases of serial rape and homicide, it also can be extremely useful in the investigation of many single cases of rape or homicide. This one-week (36 hour) "hands-on" program will provide you with an arsenal of techniques you can use to identify the physical, behavioral, and personality characteristics of offenders who commit the crimes of rape and homicide, particularly serial rape and homicide offenses. It will provide you with techniques you can use immediately to solve the real-world problems that daily confront the law enforcement community. Once trained, you will be able to save countless hours by focusing your investigations on the most likely type of person to have committed the immediate crime, predict what the offender did before the offense, what he did during the crime, and anticipate his expected post-offense behavior following the event. In investigations with extensive suspect lists, the savings in time to develop lead prioritizations can be substantial. Presented in a comfortable, non-threatening environment that permits both individualized and group instruction, the course takes a "learn-by-doing" approach that gives students many opportunities to actually experience the tasks associated with the criminal profiling process. Participants will be taught how to read a crime scene and how to use crime scene information to develop a "portrait" of the offender's childhood, family background, sexual history, appearance, lifestyle, and other relevant personal information which is then used to identify the type of person most likely to have committed the immediate crimes. This format of instruction allows for not only a highly interactive exchange between the student and the facilitator, but offers unique opportunities for group interaction and collaboration as well. Target audience: sex crimes investigator, homicide investigator, patrol officer who may be in a position to recognize the characteristics of serial crimes, or a crime analyst responsible for providing assistance to sex crimes or homicide investigators.

Cost: $595 which includes a copy of "The Criminal Investigative Analysis Study Guide and Workbook" and "A CD of Managing Death Investigations by Arthur Westveer, Jr., U.S. Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation"

This training is MANDATORY for all Union County Law Enforcement Officers. Registration is also limited to Union County Law Enforcement Officers only.

The "Fair and Impartial Policing Perspective" reflects a new way of thinking about the issue of Biased Policing. It is based on the science of bias, which tells us that biased based policing is not, as some contend due to widespread racism in policing, In fact, the science tells that even well-intentioned humans (and thus, Police Officers) manifest biases that can impact on their perceptions and behavior. These biases can manifest below consciousness.

This training course will help officers to:

- Understand that even well - intentioned people have biases;
- Understand how implicit biases impact on what we perceive/see can (unless prevented) impact on what we do;
- Understand that Fair and Impartial Policing leads to effective policing, and,
- Use tools that help the officers,
 - (1) Recognize his/her conscious and implicit biases, and
 - (2) Implement controlled (unbiased) behavioral responses.

Field Training Officer

presented by Penn State University's Justice & Safety Institute

Monday through Wednesday, November 13-15, 2017 -- (THREE DAYS) 8:30AM to 4:30PM

This powerful three-day program is designed to prepare officers for field-training responsibilities. The future of a police department is significantly impacted by the field training officer (FTO). The FTO is a vital member of the department, responsible for training new recruits and determining the viability of these recruits as law enforcement officers. When FTOs are properly trained, they can help make sound personnel decisions and avoid future performance and legal issues. Rather than using a previously formulated method of instruction, we teach what we believe to be the best of each method, and then allow trainees to devise their own program. This highly interactive class places an emphasis on imparting the knowledge and skills needed to properly train and mentor recruits for work as law enforcement officers. All of our courses are instructed by current practitioners or recently retired executives. Key concepts and topics include Elements of the Communication Process, Adult Learning Concepts, Concepts of Appraisal, Evaluating Training Performance, Ethical Issues, and Job-Task Analysis and Patrol Function.

High-Impact Supervision

presented by Penn State University's Justice & Safety Institute

Wednesday through Friday, October 4-6, 2017 -- (THREE DAYS)

8:30AM to 4:30PM

Instructor: Penn State University's Justice & Safety Institute

Designed for frontline supervisors and middle-level managers, this three-day workshop offers intensive training in the skills that supervisors need most to capably manage and supervise in the arena of contemporary policing environments. As police environments, managerial practices and effective policing approaches change, so does supervision. The responsibilities and demands facing police supervisors are daunting. New employees have different value systems, workplaces and communities are increasingly diversified, and the expectation for problem-solving has been pushed downward while the risk of liability has increased.

The program instructors are uniquely qualified teachers whose backgrounds combine academic know-how and professional experience as command officers in law enforcement agencies. They have taught both nationally and internationally.

Law Enforcement Prevention and Deterrence of Terrorist Acts presented by the Department of Homeland Security & Preparedness

Monday/Tuesday, December 4-5, 2017

-- (TWO DAYS) 8AM to 5PM

Instructor: Louisiana State University

This course trains law enforcement personnel on actions they can take to prevent, deter and respond to terrorist acts. The law enforcement officer is part of the front line defense in preventing and deterring WMD terrorist incidents where the release of WMD agents is likely to occur because of criminal actions. The nature of law enforcement officers' daily work environment provides them with an enhanced understanding of the community not shared by the public. This heightened community awareness provides law enforcement officers with a unique opportunity to prevent or deter potential WMD terrorist incidents.

All participants must have a FEMA Student Identification Number (SID).

Thursday, October 19, 2017 -- 9AM to 5PM

Instructor: Assistant Prosecutor Tiffany Wilson, Union County Prosecutor's Office

For ALL law enforcement officers and behavioral health professionals who will be instructing the "Law Enforcement Response to Individuals with Special Needs/Mental Health Issues" training course at the county level. Assistant prosecutors, mental health administrators and staff, and all other appropriate personnel are welcome to attend.

Participants will attend a one-day training session designed to prepare them to teach the "Law Enforcement Response to Individuals with Special Needs/Mental Health Issues" training course. The course is designed to enhance the law enforcement officer's ability to identify citizens dealing with mental health disorders and/or various special needs. The course provides practical techniques to assist police officers in interacting and dealing with these citizens, with the goal of further professionalizing police responses, building relationships and minimizing the necessity to utilize force. The program includes de-escalation techniques often utilized to approach and handle people in crisis. Techniques learned during the training will help reduce the risk of injury or death to both the subject and police officer. The training will cover the proper steps to take when medical or professional assistance is required, including the statutorily prescribed procedure for transporting a mentally ill citizen in crisis to a screening center for evaluation by mental health professionals.

(*Current MDTS instructors may also re-certify at this time.)

Thursday/Friday, December 7-8, 2017 --
(TWO DAYS) 8:30AM to 4:30PM

Instructor: Captain Martin Mogensen, Union County Police Department

PLEASE NOTE: Any brand name expandable baton may be used to attend this course.

*Current MDTS Instructors may also re-certify at this time.

This course provides an ideal foundation for departments initiating a defensive tactics program for their officers.

The Monadnock Defensive Tactics System (MDTS) is a principle-based defensive tactics program. MDTS was created to give the officer a base system for Personal Defense and Restraint Techniques that easily "transitions" into handcuffing. The "principle-based" concept identifies a problem or action and then concentrates on easily-identified principles to define or solve the problem. This method of training allows for flexibility when trying to "meld" this program with the many systems already established within the law enforcement defensive tactics field. It is also designed to accentuate and compliment the Monadnock Expandable Baton (MEB) and PR-24 Control Baton Programs. The MDTS Program will cover basic blocking skills, counter-strikes, control holds, handcuffing and weapon awareness/reaction.

Northwestern University Center for Public Safety's DRONE Level 2 Training: Small Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (sUAS) (aka Drones) Crash Investigation Remote Pilot

Monday/Tuesday, August 21-22, 2017 -- 8:30AM to 4:30PM

Instructor: Northwestern University Center for Public Safety

PREREQUISITE. PROOF REQUIRED: Participant must hold a current 14 CFR Part 107 Certification. Completion of NUCPS sUAS Knowledge Test Preparation or equivalent a plus.

This class is for officers and civilians planning to fly small Unmanned Aerial Vehicles \(sUAS\) -- often referred to as drones -- on behalf of their departments for crash investigation. DJI Inspire/1 sUAS craft will be provided for shared student usage and learning.

sUAS Crash Investigation Remote Pilot prepares students who are new to flying a small UAS (unmanned aerial system, or drone) to use this technology to reliably capture the photographic and video evidence at a crash scene for subsequent photogrammetric evaluation. sUAS and photogrammetric modelling techniques allow the details of a crash scene to be recorded in a fraction of the time taken with traditional survey station techniques and can produce photorealistic three-dimensional models from which accurate measurements can be taken. This course includes extensive hands on experience and is suitable for students without sUAS pilot experience and those who have basic flight skills but have not used them for the capture of crash scene images for photogrammetry.

Course content includes: UAS setup and configuration; Camera configuration and settings; Camera controls; Pre-flight checks; Flight planning and patterns; Flight skills including emergency procedures; Image capture for day and night scenes; Terrestrial photography techniques for photogrammetry; Field measurements; UAS maintenance; Real world issues: Trees, powerlines, low light, wind, snow, etc.; Obstacle navigation techniques; Overview of 3D model construction and expected results from mock scene; Demonstration of common capture errors.

MANDATORY EQUIPMENT: Laptop computer (or other device) with a USB port(s) and Adobe Reader installed. Student reference materials will be distributed in USB flash drives (files will accept electronic comments and highlighting and can be saved).

Attire: Weather-appropriate business casual outdoor clothing; Sunglasses; Hat.

Instructor: Northwestern University Center for Public Safety

PREREQUISITE: Computer Proficiency (Microsoft Window-based). (Please note: You do not have to be a pilot to take this class although it will be helpful to know how drones work and what is possible with them.)

This class is for officers and civilians planning to apply photogrammetric modelling techniques to analyze images and video captured by small unmanned aerial vehicles (sUAS) (aka drones) at a crash scene: Crash Investigation and Reconstruction Aerial Photogrammetrists. Participants must possess strong computer proficiency, ideally using Microsoft Windows.

Crash Investigation Aerial Photogrammetrist prepares students to develop 3D models and orthomosaics from crash scene evidence captured using aerial and terrestrial photography captured by sUAVs. In this course students will work hands on with the Pix4DMapper photogrammetry modelling software.

Course content includes: Structure from Motion (SfM) concepts; EXIF data; Geographic projections & geo-referencing; Generation of sparse and dense point clouds and textured meshes; Selection and use of manual tie points; Conversion to local coordinate systems; Generation of X,Y,Z point lists; Correction of common problems in generated 3D Models; Exporting to CAD software. Access to Pix4DMapper will be provided for students.

Modern technology offers the media immediate access to breaking events in real time. The First Amendment guarantee of a free press is a bedrock principle of American democracy. Government officials have an obligation to provide the media with accurate information under the rule of law. Relevant materials gathered over decades of experience will provide each student with a practical, commonsense approach to guide the student through the day-to-day interaction with media representatives. This one day seminar is designed as a practical, knowledge-centered curriculum for those tasked with managing agency relations with the media including police and civilian public information officers, prosecutors, police chiefs and command staff, mayors and business administrators, fire and EMS commanders. Topics include Title 47, privacy issues, OPRA requests, interagency collaboration during multijurisdictional incidents, juvenile information (2A: 4A-60), domestic violence records and information (2C: 25-33), the "no comment" minefield, bloggers as journalists, NJ Press Shield Law (2A:84a-21), common law vs. statutory doctrine, exemptions from disclosure, and civil/administrative liability.

Pre-Employment Background Investigations presented by Pangaro Training and Management Wednesday, October 11, 2017 -- 9AM to 4:30PM

Instructor: Lieutenant Joseph Pangaro, Ocean Township Police Department (ret.)

Conducting a thorough and complete background investigation is one of the best ways to prevent future problems in your agency. Once a person is hired the process to remove them can be arduous and costly. Many agencies rely on pre-911 pre-employment practices such as blindly accepting candidates with the highest physical and/or academic test results. State law requires us to take those qualifications into account; but the law does not require agencies to ignore the more important qualifiers such as the candidate's character and ethical history, financial responsibility, temperament, or their record of interpersonal relationships. Since 911, department's background investigations are also about ensuring national security. Conducting an in-depth, thorough and complete investigation on each and every candidate is the only way to protect your agency. With this valuable information, hiring committees can make informed decisions. This course covers scope, tactics and techniques necessary to reveal all negative traits as well as past criminal or inappropriate behaviors and actions on the part of applicants. Instructors will cover:

- Getting beyond candidates best friends and pre-set, practiced answers
- Identifying areas of concern and recognizing potential red flags
- Interview techniques and tactics that can reveal a candidate's beliefs and feelings on a variety of job related topics
- Gauging a candidate's temperament beyond their answers
- Preparing and documenting a report including collecting and recording data and witness interviews

This course will also cover the legal requirements pertaining to when certain questions can be asked and how much information the applicant is obliged to provide. What to do if you learn the employee has lied during any part of the process and when it is legally permissible to terminate the process. This program is designed so your agency can prevent the need for expensive law suits and worse, the disruption of your agency or company as you fight to correct the problem.

Suicide By Cop

Wednesday/Thursday, November 1-2, 2017 --
(TWO DAYS) 9AM to 4PM

Instructor: Officer Jason McErlean, Westfield Police Department

The class is designed for all members of the law enforcement community. The following will be addressed: Concepts for desk personnel, issues for responding officers, concerns for "road" supervisors, approaches for watch commanders, training and policy points for administration, as well as topics for union delegates. The class will focus on the areas represented by the parties in attendance, but all areas will be discussed.

In recent years, a phenomenon has emerged as a new method of suicide, which law enforcement officers call Suicide by Cop or SBC. This term describes an incident in which a suicidal individual intentionally engages in life-threatening behavior. It generally involves a lethal weapon or what appears to be a lethal weapon directed towards police officers or civilian in an attempt to provoke a shooting. Suicide by Cop is becoming a reoccurring event in New Jersey. This course will explore the many variables that lead to an SBC incident, including deinstitutionalization, criminal past and present criminal action, and drug and/or alcohol use. We will also examine the concept of less than lethal force, concerns of crisis management, legal defense for law enforcement, and recent studies conducted on the subject.

REGISTRATION

Attendance

Complete class attendance is required to obtain a certificate. Attendance is taken and reported each day the class is in session. If possible, certificates will be distributed at the conclusion of each class.

Course Confirmation/Cancellation

Course registrations can only be submitted on our online registration website. Once a registration is submitted, an email is automatically sent to the email address of the registrant and department training officer on file. An email notice will also be sent if course date(s) change or a course is cancelled. Your department is responsible for cancelling any confirmed registration using our online registration website as soon as you know the registrant will be unable to attend.

Payment

Checks or vouchers should be payable to the Union County Police Academy Training Account and submitted prior to the day of class.

Refund Policy

A refund will NOT be issued for failure to attend a course. A credit will be applied only if class cancellation is received two weeks prior to the course starting date or, if the class date is changed and the registrant is unable to attend.

Registration

The course description pages in this catalog also serve as applications for attendance.

ON-SITE CONSIDERATIONS

Accident/Injuries

All accidents or injuries occurring on Academy grounds must be reported immediately to the attending instructor and to the administrative office. An incident form must then be completed.

Cell Phones

The use of cell phones during course instruction is prohibited. Phones and beepers may only be used during class breaks.

Classroom Demeanor

Students are expected to treat instructors with courtesy and respect.

Eating/Drinking

Food and beverage are not allowed in the classrooms.

Food Service

Vending and coffee machines are located within the 1st floor cafeteria. Academy lunchroom tables are available for use unless occupied by recruits.

Order

In-Service students are expected to set an example for the Basic Academy recruits by refraining from using profane, loud or offensive language. Students are not permitted to interact with any recruit while on Academy property.

Parking

Reserved parking spaces are for Chiefs, instructors and administrative personnel only. Students should park in spaces designated by yellow lines.

Smoking

Smoking is not permitted inside the Academy.

Telephone Messages

No phone messages will be delivered during class except in emergent situations.

A Brief History of the John H. Stamler Police Academy

The Union County Police Chiefs Association founded the Union County Police Academy in 1946. Since that time, the Police Academy continually operated at various sites throughout Union County, producing qualified law enforcement officers for municipal, county and state agencies.

The Basic Police Training curriculum meets the strict requirements of the New Jersey Police Training Commission. The instructional staff is comprised of experts in various areas of law enforcement, thus assuring the academy graduates have the desire, ability and judgment to serve the public and honor their oath of office.

Since July 1986, the Union County Police Chiefs Association forged a "Unique Partnership" with the Union County Prosecutor's Office in the overall operation of the Police Academy. This enabled broader opportunities for the basic and in-service training programs, and ensures maintaining the highest standards of training, competence and professionalism. It is the totality of this "Unique Partnership" that produces successful law enforcement officers to protect and serve our citizens, and provides continual education to assist them in honing their knowledge and skills. Two former prosecutors were instrumental in working closely with the Police Chiefs to form this endeavor: the late John H. Stamler and the late Andrew K. Ruotolo, Jr.

In March 1989, construction began on a permanent home for the Police Academy, located on the grounds of the Union County Vocational-Technical School in Scotch Plains. The present state-of-the-art facility was dedicated on November 18, 1991, and named the John H. Stamler Police Academy of Union County, in honor of the late Prosecutor whose vision and determination served as the catalyst for bringing this project to fruition.

The new Academy officially opened its doors for operation and greeted the members of the 66th Session of the Basic Police Training Class on January 31, 1992. The Academy is offered without a fee to all Union County law enforcement agencies.

Acting Union County Prosecutor Grace H. Park and the Union County Police Chiefs Association, through its Education Committee, work closely with the Academy staff to continue the tradition of high standards of quality education that has become the hallmark of the Academy.

Chief Anthony Buccelli of the New Providence Police Department serves as Superintendent for the Police Academy; Eric G. Mason is the Police Academy Director.
